More than $500 million will be spent on cleanup of structures, a high cost of doing business under those circumstances. It has been widely assumed, however, that ConSente may have been a part of the firm involved in the removal of those buildings and may not have fully been informed of the damage caused.. "The contractor, ConSente, was aware of the damage caused to the World Trade Center site prior to the demolition," a White House statement said Tuesday. There is no evidence that the firm worked outside the scope of the fire and subsequent clean-up efforts, the statement said.. According to information obtained directly from ConSente, the city estimated this destruction to be between $50 million and $80 million, about half the estimated amount that the firm estimated when workers arrived on Sept. 3, three days after the first collapses. ConSente also estimates that many..
